

Financial and legal considerations - Part 1

Enduring Power of Attorney

What you need to know about Enduring Power of Attorney

An Enduring Power of Attorney is important to know about.

Enduring Power of Attorney gives 'Power' to a nominated person to assist with planning, decision making or taking actions when someone is not able to do this for themselves. It may involve financial, personal/lifestyle and medical treatment decisions.

For example, the financial aspect of an Enduring Power of Attorney can give 'Power' to a daughter so that she can help with financial decisions such as banking and re-investing funds.

Some people find that being a co-signatory to their family member's bank account or being the Centrelink Nominee is sufficient. However, if your family member became incapable of agreeing to this, you may not be entitled to access the account. Nor would you be able to sell the house, if needed.

The same difficulty would arise for those holding a General Power of Attorney, as this assumes your family member is still able to consent to your actions. This is where an Enduring Power of Attorney can be beneficial - it is enduring or ongoing.

In making the necessary decisions, the person nominated as the Enduring Power of Attorney (the 'attorney') can make judgements about previously expressed views, as well as taking into account the views of significant others.

How to make an Enduring Power of Attorney/Guardianship

To make an Enduring Power of Attorney a person must be deemed of sound mind or 'competent'. Sometimes this can be difficult to gauge, particularly in the early stages of dementia. If in doubt, ask your family member's GP for their advice or assessment. Then if the legal document is ever disputed you have support.

An Enduring Power of Attorney can be made by contacting a solicitor or the Public Trustee. Alternatively, you can contact Office of the Community Advocate on 6207 0707 for a copy of their free do-it-yourself forms.

Enduring Powers of Attorney assume a great deal of trust is held between the persons giving and receiving the 'Power'. In the event that this trust is misplaced, an Enduring Power of Attorney can be suspended or revoked by making an application to the Guardianship and Management of Property Tribunal.

It's also important to make a Will

Some people feel uncomfortable about making a Will. The truth is, if you don't make a Will you will die 'intestate' and a standard process will be used for deciding who gets what. For some, this still works in favour of their immediate family however this is not always the case.

Making a Will is not a complex task. It can be as detailed or as general as you like. Some people choose to leave all their belongings to their spouse. Others like to include a chosen charity - this is called 'making a bequest'. The important thing is that your estate is divided as you choose - and that a family member knows where to find your Will.

A Will can be made by contacting a solicitor or the Public Trustee. An information brochure on bequests can be obtained confidentially and obligation-free from your chosen charity.

How to raise these issues with your family member or friend

It can be difficult talking about legal and financial issues with a family member or friend. However, good planning is early planning - the earlier the better, to give you peace of mind.

Here are some tips that might help:

- ☑ Talk about this as a normal part of planning.
- ☑ Mention that this is a way of making one's wishes clear.
- ☑ Perhaps speak to your family member's GP, who may be prepared to raise the issue at the next visit.
- ☑ Give your family member time to think about what you've said.
- ☑ Suggest having your own Will and Enduring Power of Attorney written up at the same time.
- ☑ Take the initiative and make the appointment.
